A MOTHER'S PLEA

EXEMPTION BOARD PUTS IN CLASS 3 THIRD SON OF PATRIOTIC WOMAN

The Exemption Board is sometimes called upon to modify the strict regulations governing classification of registrants to meet exceptional cases. One such instance was the case of Mrs. Harding of 1261 East Sycamore avenue, Eagle Rock, who has cheerfully given two sons to the service of Uncle Sam. Both of these young men are in the Aviation Corps, one, Edward Anson Harding, at Kelly's Field, the other, John Howard Harding, at Rockwell Field. She has, however, one other son, Robert James Harding, who like his brothers is a fine physical specimen of manhood and who had been listed in Class 1. Yesterday Mrs. Harding appeared before the Board to ask that this last remaining son be not called to camp until a sufficient time has elapsed for her to begin to receive the government allowance on account of the sons in service, as she is entirely dependent now on Robert James. Members of the Board took the matter under advisement and this morning decided that inasmuch as she is a dependent and has shown such patriotism in giving the other two boys, who were voluntarily inducted, she is entitled to keep this last remaining boy until the demands for service are such as to make it absolutely necessary for him to go. He has therefore been placed in deferred Class No. 3.

RED CROSS JOTTINGS

The usual workers were busy at the headquarters of the Red Cross Monday in the Hospital Garments Department under the direction of Mrs. Lawrence Ellis, and a goodly number of pajamas and bed shirts were turned out.

The knitting department under the chairmanship of Mrs. Archie Parker was kept busy receiving garments turned in. Mrs. Parker expects a shipment of yarn very soon and hopes it will arrive in time to give out to knitters next Thursday.

The surgical dressings class was under the instruction of Mrs. A. L. Lawshe and the list of workers included Mesdames L. B. Munn, C. L. Bullard, H. A. Black, E. M. Erling, C. E. Case, E. L. Hartley, Lee Kaster, D. B. Pingree, William J. Masak, Mary E. Chester, C. E. Hutton, R. Jackson and Ben Bolan.

Thirty-seven renewals and new memberships at $1 were taken in during the month of March, and three $2 memberships.

RECTOR'S GUILD

Monday afternoon the Rector's Guild of St. Mark's Church held a business meeting at the home of its president, Mrs. Le Roy Bosserman. After the report of the treasurer, Mrs. H. H. Hewitt, important business followed.

This Guild has fulfilled its mission in paying St. Mark's apportionment of the Pension Fund. For nearly two years the Guild has held regular monthly meetings and enjoyed many a social tea in which the stranger as well as those attending St. Mark's, was made welcome.

At Monday's meeting the ladies unanimously voted to dissolve the Rector's Guild and form themselves into a branch of the Daughters of the King, in which all baptized Episcopalian ladies are invited to join. The date of organization will be announced later. Tea was served and the topic of conversation was for the welfare of the Church and those who are interested.

Mrs. Bosserman announced that during her absence the choir would be in charge of Mrs. Harry Peterson and Mrs. Pratt.

TROPICO AUXILIARY NOTES

The Tropico Red Cross Auxiliary is planning to give a chop suey supper or lunch some time in the near future. Professor Parker of Manual Arts High School, of Los Angeles, who was a speaker at one of the open meetings of the Auxiliary, is an expert in the compounding of chop suey, having been carefully instructed in the art by some Chinese friends. He volunteered to come out some time and make it for the organization and they have accepted his offer. He will now have to make good or lose credit with the members. They are confident he will be equal to it and are counting upon the affair being a popular Red Cross benefit.

Mrs. Hal Davenport has accepted the chairmanship of the Hospital Garments Department of the Auxiliary and with other workers will be at headquarters all day every Wednesday. The ladies are doing excellent work and keeping their sewing machines and needlewomen busy.

ELKS INSTALLATION

NEW OFFICERS INSTALLED WITH IMPRESSIVE CEREMONIES MONDAY NIGHT

The installation of officers of Glendale Lodge No. 1289 B. P. O. E. was conducted last evening in the presence of about 175 members. It was not a public ceremonial. No vestments are used by the Elks, the jewels of office alone indicating official rank. The Tuxedo is their only uniform. Exalted Ruler Albert D. Pearce by special arrangement with the Grand Lodge was given the power of an installing officer. The ceremony, conducted according to the ritual prescribed by the Grand Lodge, was very impressive.

The following elective officers were installed.

Exalted Ruler, Bert P. Woodard,
Esteemed Leading Knight, Cameron D. Thom,
Esteemed Loyal Knight, Roger H. Brown,
Esteemed Lecturing Knight, A. L. Weaver,
Esteemed Secretary, R. M. Jackson,
Treasurer, Herman Nelson,
Tiler, Archie M. Parker,
Trustee, Stanley Frentz.
Delegate to Grand Lodge, Albert D. Pearce.

Officers and committees appointed were:

John Fanset, Esquire.
Alfred Priest, Inner Guard.
Dr. C. Irving Mills, Chaplain.
House Committee: Hugh Cornwell, Fred. J. Fish, Ray Borthick, D. S. Phillips, Fay G. Stone.
Auditing Committee: E. S. Lawrence, R. H. Kimball, D. S. Phillips.
Big Brothers' Committee: A. D. Pearce, H. M. Miller, S. C. Packer, Dr. J. L. Flint, L. C. Forrest.
Sick Committee: Stanley S. Frentz, Chairman; Father James O'Neill, A. W. Beach, Charles Shattuck.
Library Committee: W. M. Kimball, Dr. A. L. Bryant, A. T. Cowan.
Jinx Committee: Roger Brown, John Fanset, Lou Sherman.
Lapsation Committee: Peter L. Ferry, A. H. Dibbern, W. E. Heald.
House Manager, Joseph Fortunato.
Organist, Harry G. Goodwin.

At the close of the installation ceremonies Motley Flint of Los Angeles, Chairman of the Thrift Stamp Campaign for this district, addressed the Lodge for about an hour, in which he set forth the critical issues of the war, the needs of our fighting men at the front, and made a stirring appeal to come to the aid of the government

ESCORTS FOR SOLDIERS' BODIES

The War Department authorizes the announcement that telegraphic instructions have been sent to all camp, division, general hospital and post commanders, and to the Inspector General and Quartermaster General amending the Army Regulations relating to the shipment and burial of bodies of officers and soldiers who die within the United States.

The change provides:

"Paragraph 87, Army Regulations, is amended so that its provisions cover soldiers as well as officers, and further amended to authorize transportation for one attendant to accompany the remains of an officer or soldier who dies within the United States to place of interment within the United States and return to his proper station.

Paragraph 87 originally applied to officers only and provided that "the remains of a deceased soldier on the active list may be shipped to the home of the decedent or to a national cemetery for interment." This shipment was at Government expense, and the paragraph is now broadened to cover enlisted men as well as officers.

MRS. ROCKHOLD AT HOME

Mrs. John E. Rockhold has so far recovered her health that she is able to leave the Glendale Sanitarium and return to her own home at 1430 Burchett street. Recent letters which she has received from her husband, John Rockhold, with the engineering corps in France, indicate that he is well. In a recent letter enclosing a print of a photograph taken by the official photographer of the corps and filed for purposes of identification, he described a long tramp which he and his son had taken together, also describing the turkey dinner they enjoyed on Washington's Birthday. Her letters to him have been much delayed because all the transportation facilities have to be used for the forwarding of army supplies and the mails sometimes have to wait until it is convenient to handle them. She has also received a number of picture postals from her son Howard which are of interest.

BIG BATTLE CENTERS NEAR AMIENS

WEST FRONT BEGINNING TO RETURN TO NORMAL STAGE OF LOCAL RAIDS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

The triple German objective of capturing Amiens, cutting the Calais-Paris railroad south of that city and driving a wedge between the British and French armies in this region, is resulting in most sanguinary fighting at the present stage of the enemy offensive.

The combat is centering around Moreuil, Demuin and Hangard between the Avre and the Luce rivers, midway between Montdidier and Amiens.

The allies are proceeding west at Moreuil and Demuin. The British have made gains in this neighborhood, taking prisoners and guns and the wood between Moreuil and Hangard. Successful raids were made in the neighborhood of Acheville and Hollebeke, where prisoners were taken, and a number of the enemy killed.

North of Albert local attacks netted the British 73 prisoners, three machine guns and many dead Germans.

The Germans claim to have increased their prisoners to 75,000.

The west front is beginning to return to its normal stage of local raids.

Hindenburg has paid the allies a compliment in having in his huge offensive to bring up fresh divisions, artillery, etc.

WISCONSIN'S LOYALTY TO THE TEST

VOTES FOR OR AGAINST THE PRESENT WAR IN ELECTING A U. S. SENATOR TODAY

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

MILWAUKEE, April 2.—Wisconsin went to the polls today to record her attitude toward the war, to elect a United States Senator to succeed the late Paul Husting, Democrat.

There are three candidates all demanding election because they are for the war or against it. They are Joseph Davies, democrat, who stands for the single purpose of prosecuting the war and the unqualified endorsement of President Wilson's administration; Irvin L. Lenroot, Republican, whose war stand is identical with that of Davies; and Victor L. Berger, Socialist, who is 100 per cent for peace and who declares if he is elected he will work for the immediate recall of American troops from France.

LIBERTY BOND BILL DEFECTIVE

MEASURE AS PASSED BY HOUSE WOULD HAVE ROBBED STATES OF MILLIONS IN BANK TAXES

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, April 2.—The Giant Liberty bond bill passed by the House was found today to be imperfect and it has been recalled for reconsideration. As passed it would have robbed the states of millions in bank taxes.

GAS MASKS DEFECTIVE

SENATOR THOMAS OF COLORADO STARTS CAMPAIGN AGAINST INTERFERERS WITH WAR PROGRESS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Declaring that 2900 of a shipment of 5000 American gas masks had been tampered with and had been made defective by pro-German factory workers, Senator Thomas of Colorado today started a campaign against war interferers.

CARLISLE CASTLE SUNK

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

BOSTON, April 2.—The British steamship, Carlisle Castle, was torpedoed and sunk, it was learned today when claims for marine insurance were made. The date and details of the sinking were unavailable. The steamer was a 6000-ton steel ship.

INDIANA GOES DRY TONIGHT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

INDIANAPOLIS, April 2.—Indiana goes bone dry tonight when the law enacted by the last legislature goes into effect.

U. S. EXTENDS FURTHER CREDIT TO ENGLAND

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, April 2.—The United States has extended a further loan to Great Britain of $200,000,000, making a total of England's debt to us of $2,720,000,000; and for the allies, $5,160,600,000.

WOULD DECLARE WAR AGAINST GERMANY'S ALLIES

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Senator King offered a resolution to the Senate this afternoon calling for a declaration of war against Turkey and Bulgaria.

BOMBARDMENT OF PARIS RESUMED

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PARIS, April 2.—Despite the protest of the Pope, the bombardment of Paris by long-range shells was resumed this morning.

BUY BONDS AT HOME

GLENDALE WILL HAVE CREDIT FOR LOANS MADE BY LOCAL BANKS ONLY

Motley Flint's talk at the Elks' Lodge Monday evening on the subject of buying United States Government Thrift Stamps brought out the fact that Glendale gets credit only for U. S. Government bonds bought through the banks of Glendale when it comes to classifying the cities and holding them responsible for stated allotments to be purchased. Buy your United States bond through your local banks and thus give Glendale the credit of having done her bit in the war's financial work.

EASTER WITH LOCAL LUTHERANS

The following statistics of the Sunday School of the Lutheran Church of this city and of the general state of prosperity in the organization, have been contributed by the pastor, Rev. R. W. Mottern, and will be of interest to many residents of Glendale:

"Surely among the Lutherans of Glendale this Easter season was a 'going over the top' in every consideration. No previous report can compare with this. When the present pastor took hold of the work three years ago (1915) for the Sunday School on Easter morning there were only six in attendance. For Easter in 1916 we had 42 present. For 1917 there were 55, and for this Easter we reached the 'high-water' mark of 70 present. Our enrollment is 70, so our attendance was 100 per cent, equal to the full enrollment of the school, a very unusual thing. Easter Sunday was a day long to be remembered, being just one year since beginning to hold services in the new church, everything augmenting for a strong congregation in this locality.

"Easter services opened up with a 6 o'clock 'sunrise service,' the pastor speaking on 'Our Early Easter Walk.' At 9:30 the 'over the top' Sunday School assembled to greet the superintendent, John Esterly, and pastor, who were overjoyed with thanks to God. At 11 o'clock the congregation, much larger than usual, gathered for worship and celebration of the Lord's Supper. At that time there were dedicated to the worship of God the altar, altar cloths, pulpit, lecturn, altar chairs, Bibles, Bible satin markers, piano, hymnal board, and the large altar panel picture of 'Christ and Sinking Peter.' This was followed by the reception of new members by letter and a class of catechumens by the solemn and beautiful rite of Confirmation. The pastor's annual Easter message was given, 'Life More Abundant.' Preparatory Service and Holy Communion closed the interests of the congregation for Easter morning.

"At 8 o'clock there was a splendid audience present, well filling the auditorium, to enjoy the Sunday School Easter program. And for two hours there poured forth such an interesting program of solos, choruses, recitations, motion songs, by primaries, 'daffodil drill' by juniors, matchless bird warbling imitation in the 'Mocking Bird,' by Julius Eichhorn of Los Angeles, and exercise, 'The Wayside Cross,' the whole closing by beautiful pictures from 'The Triumphal Entry to the Ascension.' Many words of appreciation were expressed as the people filed homeward.

"Last night, Easter Monday, marked another scene, the closing celebration. A reception was given all the new members received since last Easter. A splendid musical program interested all. A few timely remarks were made by the 'Lay Reader' of the congregation, Harry Pasemann. Reports financial were made by the various organizations of the Church on their pledge to the debt of the Church, which resulted in nearly $75. Total offerings for Easter, $140. At the close the whole assembly retired to the parsonage close at hand, where dainty and appetizing refreshments were served amidst the joyousness and happiness that filled the mind and heart. And thus closed an event crowning every Lutheran interest heretofore in Glendale. It is hoped by this most eventful Easter season and its report to the general public, all the Lutheran people in this vicinity and their friends will 'line up' so as to have a share in making the Lutheran congregation a telling influence for greater good in the community.

"Next Sunday at 11 o'clock the pastor speaks on 'We Shall Live Forever,' an after-Easter thought. At 8 o'clock 'Has the Spirit of Compassion Deserted Us as a Race?' Come, you are most gladly welcome."

WEATHER FORECAST.—Showers tonight and Wednesday. Colder in the east. Southwesterly winds.

CASA VERDUGO DRIVE

NORTHERN DISTRICT LIBERTY LOAN COMMITTEE HOLDS ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING

Evidence is shown that the Casa Verdugo district intends to go over strong in the Third Liberty Loan drive. A meeting of the sales committee was held last night at the Home Guard armory in the Logan building. The meeting was for the purpose of completing plans for the solicitation of subscriptions to this bond issue. The entire sales committee, consisting of the following men, was present:

Rev. Edmonds.
W. E. Hewitt.
E. K. Barnes.
O. C. Logan.
H. M. Walton.
Dr. Croswell.
A. L. Morgan.
Menzo Williams.
Alex. Mitchell.

It was planned to hold another meeting Thursday night. The index cards covering the residents of this district will be distributed to the committeemen. When these men start out next Monday they expect to bring in a record subscription from the Casa Verdugo district.

HORSESHOE CLUB NOTES

Last Saturday, March 30, Captain Head with ten of his squad went to Long Beach to pay the Beachites a match of 50 games. What did they play? Well, in the minds of some who saw the game that is a question. The Beachites played, all right. No doubt there. At least it looked like it as they won 32 games out of the 50 played in just one hour and thirty minutes.

Baseball pitchers, football players, etc., all have their off days, they say; then why not horseshoe pitchers? But boys, the next time don't at least seven out of ten take your off day on the same day. It is hard on the business, you see. I have heard that the salt air on the ocean beach was a great invigorator and good red blood maker, it seemed to act to the contrary last Saturday.

Gould and Porter contend that the Beachites camouflaged their pitching stakes. Do you suppose it is true? Elmore claims they had vanishing stakes at No. 5. Plain to be seen when he pitched, but gone when his shoe got there. I think Stuart has it sized up about right—it simply wasn't in him that day. Well, let us forget it and reverse the decision next time. Up to last Saturday these clubs had won and lost three games each. The result in games, points and ringers was as follows:

Games Won: Long Beach 32, Glendale 18.

Points Won: Long Beach 923, Glendale, 729.

Ringers: Long Beach 503, Glendale 455.

I will not give the game in detail by teams as I don't think it makes good reading. Bruce made high score for Glendale on ringers scored, 77; Glen Porter, second, 60; Mr. Peet third with 52. Warren and Weller broke even for Long Beach, each scoring 64 ringers.

Scorekeepers for the game: Smith, Hutchinson, Holeman, Kinch and Hughes. Rooters for home team, Spence, Robinson, Archer and Nicoles.

Here is a good game played by members of the home club on home grounds last week. Gould and J. D. Porter vs. Glen Porter and Head.

	Points	Ringers
Gould	51	48
Porter	49	53
Head	54	45
Glen Porter	54	50
Total	208	196

One hundred thirty-nine of these ringers counted as dead ringers. This is a record breaker as far as we can learn.

We were glad to see our old member, Dad Cornwell, who has been quite sick for several months, on the grounds for a short time one day last week. More anon. Nicoles.

ONE YEAR NEXT SATURDAY

On next Saturday, April 6, just one year will have passed since the United States declared war against Germany.

On account of this day being the anniversary of such an important event, due significance should be given in observing the day in a fitting manner. Words of a patriotic nature should be in the mouths of everybody and the United States flag should everywhere be in evidence.

Overmuch contemplation of one's own work is fatal to progress. Don't stop to look at what you've done. Push on to the next job.

PROFITABLE PATRIOTISM

Liberty bonds are more valuable than money—4½ per cent more. Next April a fifty-dollar bond will be worth fifty-two dollars and twelve and a half cents. The same security is behind both, all the mines and farms and skyscrapers and utilities and forests and real estate and factories under the Stars and Stripes. Do you know a better collateral?

Please understand that you are conferring no favor on the country in subscribing to this issue; instead of enduring a sacrifice, you are taking a gain.

America is actually exchanging old treasury notes for new ones of greater and ever increasing value.

However patriotic the motives that help finance the building of ships and aeroplanes, the founding of more cannon and hospitals, the equipment of additional forces, don't forget that you are making a handsome profit on the transaction.

Every penny transferred from a private bank into the public treasury goes in khaki to earn a bigger and surer wage than was ever before paid for similar service rendered.

The nation insists on rewarding loyalty—Washington pays a bonus on good citizenship—you increase your income by recording faith in the stability of the Republic, the justice of its cause and the certainty of its victory. The administration obtains the funds needed to defend your person, property and constitutional perquisites, to guarantee the continuation of democracy, to insure respect for international law, to secure an unending world peace.

Nobody can possibly lose through the transaction except the Kaiser.

WHY WE ARE AT WAR WITH GERMANY

By EPHRAIM DOUGLASS ADAMS
Executive Head, History Department Leland Stanford Junior University

"The object of this war is to deliver the free peoples of the world from the menace and the actual power of a vast military establishment controlled by an irresponsible government, which, having secretly planned to dominate the world, proceeded to carry out the plan without regard either to the sacred obligations of treaty or the long-established practices and long-cherished principles of international action and honor; . . . This power is not the German people. It is the ruthless master of the German people. . . . It is our business to see to it that the history of the rest of the world is no longer left to its handling."—President Wilson, August 27, 1917.

THE MATERIAL AIMS OF GERMANY

Germany believes that she has the right to dominate the world. Her militaristic autocracy believes that this war is a step toward such world domination, but that German demand for the present may rest satisfied with substantial gains in Europe. For years, German political writing has been full of the "terms of peace" after a war, and today those terms remain unaltered. The Russian negotiations have served to prove that what for a long time been public opinion is now official opinion. The quotations will show this.

First, the more general purposes: "If we come victorious out of this war, we shall be the first people on the earth, a rich stream of gold will pour over the land." "Expansion of our power both east and west, if possible over seas; political and military domination combined, indissolubly connected with economical expansion, this is our war aim." "The territory open to future German expansion must extend from the North Sea and the Baltic to the Persian Gulf, absorbing the Netherlands and Luxembourg, Switzerland, the whole basin of the Danube, the Balkan peninsula and Asia Minor."

Second, the immediate aims: "Our relations with Turkey have drawn us into this war, . . . the Bagdad Railway must be extended by us to the open sea, even to India itself." "Belgium must remain under German domination . . . there exists no better line of attack for the German army in a future war with France," whom it is necessary "to weaken to such a degree that she can never again be dangerous to us." "Will anybody believe that we will hand over the lands which we have occupied in the West, on which the blood of our people has flowed?" "We are not an institute for lengthening the life of dying states."

But it is on Poland and Western Russia that Germany has all along fixed her eyes. "We ought not to let fall the sword from our hand before we have assured our future. Our eastern boundaries must not remain where they are." "Livonia, Kurland, Esthonia, have been for more than seven centuries sister-countries united through German traditions. It is true Germans do not represent 10 per cent of the inhabitants; but their character filters through the whole." "Let us bravely organize great forced migrations of the inferior peoples. Posterity will be grateful to us. We must coerce them! This is one of the tasks of war. Such forced migrations may appear hard, but it is the only solution. . . . . The inefficient peoples, discouraged and rendered indifferent to the future by the spectacle of the superior energy of their conquerors, may crawl slowly towards the peaceful death of weary and hopeless senility." The writer of this was here viewing especially the non-German populations of South America.

How is America interested in the European political and territorial results of this war? Well, first, we are at war. Germany believes that peace now, on the terms she outlines, means a Germany victorious. That means a continuance of military autocracy in Germany—a continuance of an aggressive policy—a continuance of German faith in its special destiny to rule the world.

Against the German ideal we are fighting. But we are also fighting to save Americans from the "next step" in German imperialism. In the first year of the war, the one great fear expressed by German officers was that a long war in Europe would "cause America to wake up." Wake up to what? Not to the need of American participation in the war. The German officers thought America negligible for this war. But they did, and do, fear that America would awake to the danger to herself her ideals, her institutions, her interests, and that being awakened, Germany's next step in world domination would be harder than the present one.

There is no hope of a changed Germany—of establishing those peaceful and friendly relations which should determine international conduct—if Germany gains her objects, or any part of them, in this war. She has set her heart upon certain material objects. We must see to it that she does not gain them. Then her first step blocked, we may hope that her people may awaken from their dream of empire. We fight for a world peace, yes; but we also fight for self-preservation, and our best chance to save ourselves is this present moment—now.

This is the second of a series of ten articles by Professor Adams.

NEW THOUGHT

Esoteric or inner significance of Easter was the subject discussed by Dr. Frank L. Riley at Masonic Temple on Easter. He said in part:

There is surely ground for our belief and hope in immortality of the soul. Aside from that inner conviction and wonderful assurance in our own souls that life exists after death, we may have real, definite proof of it. If ever, in the history of the world, at this Easter time we should think this matter over. Instead of going over a lot of platitudes, we should make this Easter real. We are like blind men, see very little. The quicker we awaken and develop that sixth sense, the more we shall have actual and tangible evidence of immortality.

It is possible for us to have an extension of sight and hearing—sense vibration waves—beyond and above ordinary sight and hearing. Edison, who is deaf, says: "You people who have ears are almost deaf."

Life is a school. Christ was and is the Way Shower, so we must rise, as Christ did, above the things of earth, roll away the stone of materiality. We must develop our inner, higher self and come out into a free and glorious sunshine. We have been shut up in a shell of matter, cramped, fettered and entombed in this body. As the inside germ of an egg develops into a chicken by warmth, so by the love of truth and the warmth of Christ love and service our inner spiritual spark, implanted by God, is transmuted into a higher form of life. Do not be afraid of death, but help all, as Christ did, to be free from fear, love of material things, everything which is in bondage to earth, for we pass on in the same state in which we are here. It is life and we want to pass on into higher realms of life instead of being earth-bound. We are God's children. Thank God for immortality.

Dr. Riley's subject for next Sunday is "The Kingdom of Heaven."

"ME UND MOHAMMED"

All Americans should read the article under the above heading as written by William T. Ellis and published in the Saturday Evening Post of March 30.

This article pictures for our imagination the horrors suffered by the Armenians at the hands of the Turk and directed by the Kaiser, who issued orders that all Armenian commercial competition be destroyed by wholesale murder of the entire race. Read this article and then give what you can through your church, club, or bank.

WHAT YOUR BOND PURCHASE WILL ACCOMPLISH

The following figures give one a definite idea of what his or her loan to the Government by the purchase of Liberty Bonds will accomplish when used by the War Department.

One $50 bond will buy trench knives for a rifle company, or 23 hand grenades, or 14 rifle grenades, or 37 cases of surgical instruments for enlisted men's belts, or 10 cases of surgical instruments for officers' belts.

A $100 bond wil clothe a soldier, or feed a soldier for eight months, or purchase 5 rifles, or 30 rifle grenades, or 43 hand grenades, or 25 pounds of ether, or 145 hot-water bags, or 2,000 surgical needles.

A $100 and a $50 bond will clothe and equip an infantry soldier for service overseas, or feed a soldier for a year.

Two $100 bonds will purchase a horse or mule for Cavalry, Artillery, or other service.

Three $100 bonds will clothe a soldier and feed him for one year in France, or buy a motorcycle for a machine-gun company.

Four $100 bonds will buy an X-ray outfit.

One $500 bond will supply bicycles for the headquarters company of an Infantry regiment.

HER BRIGHT SMILE HAUNTS HIM STILL

One of our boys, well known in the valley and now a corporal in the quartermaster department, was sent revently to a factory near his cantonment in North Carolina. Obeying the injunction, "look up, not down," he spied a bevy of girls looking out of a window, one of whom smiled on him in a kindly way.

Of course he returned the smile and soon was in conversation with one of the less bashful lassies. Suddenly with an accuracy and ease that bespoke long practice, she expectorated a beautiful golden fluid evidently containing nicotine.

Our corporal was unable to conceal his surprise, but was hastily reassured by the lady that they all used it to keep the factory dust off their lungs.

Lord Rhondda, British food controller, plans in April to give those engaged in hard physical labor an increased meat ration of 50%, and those engaged in very hard physical labor double the ordinary ration. Outlook in regard to wheat was not particularly happy, he added, but there was no cause for alarm.

Personals

Emerson Maranville of La Crescenta is home from Camp Lewis for a ten days' furlough.

Mrs. Violet Jones of Los Angeles was the Sunday guest of Mrs. Anderson and her sister at 1455 Salem street.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Richards and son Hanford, of 1443 Salem street, drove to Mount Rubidoux for the Easter morning service.

Dr. and Mrs. Henry R. Harrower and their daughter Verne go to San Francisco Wednesday for a business and pleasure trip.

Ladies of the Congregational Church will sew all day for the Red Cross tomorrow, Wednesday, beginning at ten o'clock, at the church. Coffee will be served at noon.

W. G. Black, a former resident of this city at 141 Park avenue, visited Glendale Easter Sunday and was the guest of Clem Moore, attending the afternoon service at the First Methodist Church.

Miss Lillian Mills of 515 South Central avenue was the guest of Miss Beatrice Finlayson of Los Angeles on Saturday. Miss Finlayson's marriage to Charles Forde will be celebrated Tuesday evening.

P. A. C. Moore and family of 255 East Ninth street have moved to Long Beach. They have been residents of Glendale for a number of years and have a large circle of friends who will miss them.

The Misses Pearl, Eva and Hattie Beckman, Miss Helene Morgan, Storrs and Verne Beckman and Homer Morgan motored to Riverside Sunday morning to attend the Easter services on Mount Rubidoux.

Members of the U. and I. Club will meet Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Merritt Ludden on Bonita avenue to sew for the Red Cross.

Friends of Owen Emery say that he is well and working hard at the officers' training camp in Camp Lewis. The course will end April 19th, when he will know whether a commission is coming his way or not.

Mrs. E. A. Lively, who was a resident of Glendale some eleven years ago, has returned from Los Angeles to make her home here again. She has taken a house just completed at 112 S. Central. Miss Frater will reside with Mrs. Lively.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Easton have purchased the interest of Mrs. Lee Smith in the Vert Mont and will hereafter conduct it as a rooming house in connection with their restaurant at 1107 Broadway. They are now busy renovating it, putting it in good order and partially refurnishing.

The Thursday Afternoon Club will meet Thursday at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. L. E. Richardson, corner of Gardena avenue and Brand boulevard. Dr. Maude Wilde will be the speaker and will talk on "Better Babies." Some important business matters will come before the club for consideration.

First Sergeant Frank Fangman, son of C. J. Fangman of 1511 Kenreth Road has just been enjoying a three-day furlough in Portland which was given him because of his fine marksmanship, he having been one of three who made the highest scores in target practice at Camp Lewis. He is well and getting along finely with his work.

Mr. and Mrs. David Francy report that letters received from their sons Mark and Harry indicate that they are well and enjoying their work, though both would like to get nearer the front than Camp Lewis, where both still are. They are both doing field auditor work and the pictures they have sent home indicate that they are in fine physical condition.

The inaugural ball of the Elks Lodge will take place Friday evening of the present week. This is the big annual event of the year which is limited to members of the Lodge and their ladies and it will probably surpass this year any previous balls given by the Order. Jack Hearnshaw, chairman of the committee, and his able corps of associate members will have charge and it is safe to say that nothing will be neglected which will contribute in any way to the success of the function.

Mrs. J. H. Mellish was the near-witness last Sunday of an auto accident which convinced her that the days of miracles are not past. It occurred on the San Fernando road a short distance this side of Saugus, when an auto containing several passengers bolted from the road and descended an almost perpendicular bank without upsetting or causing any damage to the occupants except that one lady fainted. Mrs. Mellish was riding with Mrs. Leonhardt of Columbus avenue and they happened along just after the descent was made. They did not learn the cause of the erratic behavior of the machine.

Mrs. Stine, press correspondent of the West Glendale W. C. T. U., reports that the funds realized thus far from the war drive of that organization amount to $75, but they hope to bring it to $100 by the time the County Convention meets the latter part of this month.

The committee which has been working on the Red Cross luncheon and delicatessen which is to take place Monday the 8th, Election Day, at 503½ Brand boulevard (Tropico District), near one of the polling places, report that most generous contributions have been promised and a fine meal will be served to voters who appreciate a good meal and who also want to help the local Red Cross organization. Mrs. Joe Griffin is chairman of the committee.

OUR SUBSCRIPTION LISTS

The Evening News and the Glendale Sentinel-Progress are newspapers worthy of recognition by advertisers. The two papers have creditable lists of subscribers who show a live interest in the papers. A recent checking up campaign reveals the fact very clearly that the circulation of the Evening News is three times that of any other local newspaper circulating in Glendale, and the Sentinel-Progress shows a circulation of more than two times that of any other local Glendale paper.

Do you doubt it? If you do, call at the Evening News office and inspect our latest mailing lists.

THE SLACKER

J. Leroy Conrad, son of Mrs. Jesse Joseph, 1431 West First street, sizes up a certain class of citizens in the following clever verse. Mr. Conrad is in the aviation service and is in a position to advise the slacker.

There is one man upon this earth
Entirely void of use,
I've often tried to figure out
Just why he's running loose.
Just start a friendly argument
'Bout anything you choose,
You'll find him "Johnny on the spot"
To try to change your views.

Whate'er the subject of your talk—
(It doesn't really matter)
There's nothing that he doesn't know!
Just listen to his chatter:
"The Kaiser is an awful boob—
In fact is really dense—
And Wilson doesn't seem to have
An overload of sense.

"That old Czar Nick is pretty thick—
A man of false repute,
Was proven when he let a bunch
Of bums give him the boot.
Kerensky was a vodka hound—
A bonehead and a bum,
And couldn't keep his army
On account of being dumb.

"King George is sure a lunatic
Or else the war would cease,
He'd pacify the Kaiser quick
And get a little peace.
Now Russia wants a lot of guns
And Germany wants leather,
So why not give them all their wants
And try to get together.

"It wouldn't take me long
If I were in the ruler's seat,
I'll tell you what, my terms of peace
Are pretty hard to beat.
The Swedes should have Jerusalem,
The Jews the Turkish scalps,
For being neutral Switzerland
Should still retain the Alps.

"Now all of you take what you want
And after you are through,
We'll look at what's left over
And decide just what to do.
We're sure to find the Kaiser
In the discard with the rest,
No one wants him because he's made
Himself an awful pest.

"Now, Bill, old man, don't worry,
We've discovered you a place,
The heat will be a little strong
And maybe scorch your face.
You'll likely kick about the place
And curse until you're blue,
But one glance at your record shows
Hell's much too good for you.

"So when we sum the whole thing up,
Wild Bill and his demands,
We find that he's the Joker
In the world's peace plans."
Now listen, Mr. "Know-it-all,"
To what I have to say,
I'll give to you a little tip
To help get Bill away.

The Army's still recruiting
And the Navy wants men fit,
A dozen branches offer you
The chance to do your bit.
In conclusion to my story,
And I think it should suffice,
If you won't FIGHT—BUY BONDS
OR KNIT—
STOP GIVING OUT ADVICE.

WHITTIER PLOWS LOTS

The street department of the city of Whittier has begun plowing lots for people who have been unable to make arrangements with private parties for such work. The lots will be used for war gardens. It is sometimes difficult to secure anyone to plow, and the city is doing it as an accommodation to those who wish to make gardens.

The city of Monrovia will vote on April 23 on the issuance of $42,500 bonds to provide for the development of the city water supply on the lines suggested in the report of Willis S. Jones, hydraulic engineer. The proposed new water development will take care of the city's needs for many years, it is claimed.

TOWARDS DEMOCRACY CLUB

(Contributed)

The meeting of the Towards Democracy Club Sunday night at the southeast corner of Central and Colorado was well attended. Rev. N. J. Wright presided.

The new secretary, Mrs. E. E. Hitchcock, announced that an effort is being made to secure Upton Sinclair for his lecture, "The Art of Government," for an early date.

The subject for the last meeting, "The Trials and Tribulations of a New Idea Upon Entering the World," was ably presented by Mrs. Martha Y. Salyer, in fact the interest was kept on the tip toe of expectancy from her opening sentence to the closing word.

The speaker said in part:

It seems to be a law of nature that nothing comes into this world without pain, labor or effort on the part of those who bring it. A new idea is no exception to the rule. If it were possible for a new idea to think and take stock of itself, or if it could know what is in store for it on entering this planet, it would probably shrink, hesitate, and might even fall beck into oblivion, especially if it were of a sensitive nature.

But ideas, like humans, are lured on by the promise of the future. New ideas often suffer defeat by their over-zealous friends, who in their anxiety to display the youngsters, expose them to a cruel world while in a tender state.

A new idea is usually regarded by the world as an illegitimate birth, and is treated accordingly. It is never quite respectable until it becomes old.

New ideas are seldom born in polite society. If one should happen in by mistake, it is immediately dealt with as the law requires.

The speaker quoted Victor Hugo as saying, "Some Calvinists of the British Isles thought that a portion of the infernal regions had been set afloat when they saw the first steamboat, and gave it the name of Devilboat, and preachers gave sermons on the question of whether man has the right to make fire and water work together when God divided them, Gen. Chap. 1:4."

When Napoleon consulted the Academy of Sciences on the subject of steamboats, they said, "A mad notion, a gross delusion, an absurdity," and in the year 1807 when Fulton's steamboat made its first voyage from New York to Albany, she started on the 17th of August. It was then that a certain well-meaning religious body declared their belief that the number 17 was no other than the total of the ten horns and the seven heads of the beast spoken of in Revelations.

If a new idea should find its way into a court room it would never be noticed. There all faces are looking backward. Their documents are all couched in the language of the past. They must have a precedent for everything.

A simple contract is covered with a network of technicalities that might as well be written in Sanskrit. By the time one wades through an underbrush of "whereases," "parties of the first part" and "second part" and "the aforesaids" he is lost in the tall timber and no one but a lawyer can rescue him. In fact, that is what lawyers are for.

Passing to the medical profession the speaker said: "I have in my possession a medical work published one hundred and forty years ago. The treatments recommended in this book are of such an heroic character that if the patient lived through them it was surely a survival of the fittest. The first aid was bleeding, on the Scriptural ground that what little the patient has should be taken away from him. This strenuous method of healing has of course been modified in some of its finer aspects, and is now sharing the honors with various forms of drugless healing, Divine Healing, Mental Science and Christian Science."

In politics a new idea has a harder time in getting a foothold than in anything else. Men cling tenaciously to the old. They continue to vote the family ticket on the theory that what was good enough for father and grandfather is good enough for them.

In industrial life the laws of the jungle still obtain. The law of the fittest is as fresh in the minds of many people today as it was centuries ago.

The idea of the brotherhood of man has had a perilous time coming into the world.

FOLLOWED INSTRUCTIONS

"I can't keep the visitors from coming up," said the office boy, dejectedly, to the president. "When I say you're out they simply say they must see you."

"Well,' said the president, "just tell them 'that's what they all say.'"

That afternoon there called at the office a young lady. The boy assured her it was impossible to see the president.

"But I am his wife," said the lady.

"Oh, that's what they all say," said the boy.—Selling Facts.

AMERICANS PREVENTED BIG GERMAN OFFENSIVE

By J. W. T. MASON
(Written for the United Press)

New York, April 2.—America's first year at the front has prevented the Germans from waging a successful major offensive against the Western allies.

Germany's high hopes of a victorious assault upon the Anglo-French lines were clamorously proclaimed in Berlin at the beginning of the winter. But General Pershing's forces grew during the winter too rapidly in numbers and efficiency. German boastfulness collapsed and von Hindenburg was compelled to veto the winter movement.

The influence of America's military power upon the plans of the German general staff began with General Pershing's clever distribution of his troops at strategic centers along the entire length of the French front. Last November the Germans discovered American troops at the Rhine-Marne canal, opposite the Lorraine border. Von Hindenburg gave quick evidence that he believed he had found the key of General Pershing's strategy. It was thought to be a drive toward the Rhine. The German General Staff thereupon concentrated strong reserves at the Metz and near the Swiss border, these being the two extreme points between which any movement toward the Rhine must occur.

By thus fixing von Hindenburg's attention inside German territory in the west, General Pershing prevented any offensive use of the German reserves in France and Belgium.

But when von Hindenburg had disposed of his reserves to guard the Rhine, General Pershing began a redistribution of his troops. He started to move them westward away from the Rhine. The Germans discovered American forces during the winter near St. Mihiel, then still further west, near Tahure, and finally near the Soissons area, where the French front joins the British.

Simultaneously with this western movement of the Americans, renewed reports began to circulate of a forthcoming German offensive, as if other reserves were being moved into France to check the Americans. Thereupon General Pershing arranged to make the next appearance of American troops near the Swiss border at the very point of the French line nearest to the Rhine. Von Hindenburg was thus prevented from disturbing his reserve formation in that region. To hold in check at the same time any movement into France of the Metz reserves, the Americans next conducted a series of operations against the enemy's trenches along the Lorraine front, near the Rhine-Marne canal, America's original trench position.

This strategy brought forth new disclaimers from Berlin of any immediate intention of launching a western offensive.

America's first year at the front ends therefore with the major purposes of American strategy having been fulfilled. General Pershing's forces have familiarized themselves with all the main areas of the French front; the Americans have baffled von Hindenburg concerning their major intentions; they have compelled the concentration of German reserves inside the German boundary for the first time since the early months of the war; and they have forced von Hindenburg to abandon the risk of a winter offensive in the west. If a German assault now comes, it will be without hope of positive gains to Germany. Its purpose will be to try to destroy some of the advantages of position the allies hold. That means it will be in reality a movement of defensive strategy. So much has the United States contributed toward winning the war during the first year of preparation. The second year of action will have a more positive story to tell.

CHURCH ANSWERS

Los Angeles, California,
March 30, 1918.

Judge Walter L. Church,
Organizer of "The Californians,"
Glendale, California:

Dear Judge:

When you used to put it over me in the Debating Society of Skagway, Alaska, I hoped for a chance to get even with you some day.

I think my opportunity has arrived.

Happening out in Glendale, I saw your article in Glendale News about "Good Friday."

If Jesus was crucified on Friday, how could he have instituted "The Lord's Supper" during the evening of that same day?

I want to see you and have a long talk about old Skagway and Nome good times. Did you know that Key Pittman of Nome went to the United States Senate from Nevada?

It is said he made a great fortune in Goldfields.

Your old "sour dough" friend,
J. V. K.

Editor Glendale News:

The foregoing letter raised a question already asked by several readers of that article. Would you kindly allow space for the answer given my friend "J. V. K.," which removes the difficulty. It is this:

The old Jewish day in Jerusalem began about six o'clock p. m., so the evening of that fateful Friday came first. On that evening was the "Last Supper," then the soul-trial in Gethsemane's night, then the betrayal, followed later by the crucifixion.

by investing largely in war-savings certificates and bonds, and thus furnishing the sinews of war and insuring our country against any defeat which might result from the lack of war supplies which money will buy. He made it very clear to all present that patriotism would fall far short of realizing its ideals if after sending our sons to battle in a foreign land we failed to sustain them. As a result of Mr. Flint's stirring arguments, a big sale of thrift stamps took place then and there.

Following the address, refreshments were served in the banquet hall.

Following are brief biographies of the officers installed.

Bert P. Woodard

Bert P. Woodard, Exalted Ruler, is a southerner of the best type and comes, as do so many of our Southern California citizens, from Tennessee. He is a lawyer by inheritance as well as inclination, for his father was a lawyer. He first saw the light of day at Fayetteville, Tennessee, July 5th, 1879. After being graduated from the public schools there and from literary and law courses in the Cumberland University, he engaged in practice. He first tried his spurs in the office of his father in the home town, but in the course of a couple of years moved to Nashville, where he entered into practice with James S. Brown, an attorney who had become prominent in business and political circles, having been mayor of the city. But the lure of California was too strong to resist. He came here in 1911 and very soon selected Glendale as his place of residence. He is now associated with William T. Craig in the private practice of his profession.

Cameron D. Thom

Cameron D. Thom, Esteemed Leading Knight, has the distinction of being a native son. He was born in Los Angeles and educated there and at St. Matthew's Military Academy near San Francisco. His mother is a widow and he has had the responsibility of looking after a large landed estate and personally superintends the cultivation of a citrus ranch in the foothills of Glendale. He has been an Elk for about four years and has worked hard for the success of the order. All the time which he can spare from his business interests he has given to promoting the welfare of the lodge, service which has been recognized by his successive elections to important offices.

Roger H. Brown

Tennessee was also the native state of Roger H. Brown, Esteemed Loyal Knight, who is the son of Dr. C. A. Brown of Duarte, Cal., and who was born in Nashville, Tenn., in 1887. Most of his boyhood was spent in Southern California, where he attended the public schools and then Stanford University, from which he was graduated with other members of the engineering class of 1910. For about three years he was in business in Long Beach and for about the same length of time he has been a resident of Glendale and connected with the San Fernando Valley Home Telephone Company as manager.

A. L. Weaver

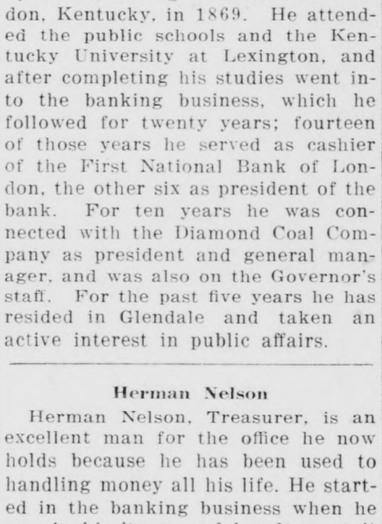
A. L. Weaver, Esteemed Lecturing Knight, was born in Schuyler, Nebraska, and is a graduate of the State University of Nebraska, from the scientific course. He has lived in California about eight years and in Glendale something over five years. He is one of the officials of the Pacific Telephone Company. He came to California from New Mexico, where he had been doing chemical assaying. He has been a member of the lodge for about two years and is much interested in its upbuilding.

R. M. Jackson

R. M. Jackson, Esteemed Secretary, is likewise a native of the Sunny South, having been born at London, Kentucky, in 1869. He attended the public schools and the Kentucky University at Lexington, and after completing his studies went into the banking business, which he followed for twenty years; fourteen of those years he served as cashier of the First National Bank of London, the other six as president of the bank. For ten years he was connected with the Diamond Coal Company as president and general manager, and was also on the Governor's staff. For the past five years he has resided in Glendale and taken an active interest in public affairs.

Herman Nelson

Herman Nelson, Treasurer, is an excellent man for the office he now holds because he has been used to handling money all his life. He started in the banking business when he was in his 'teens and has been at it ever since. He says that he was born in Forest City, Iowa, thirty-eight years ago last August, but that he was "raised" at Britt, where he attended the public schools and where he got his initial training in banking at the age of seventeen. He took a commercial course and began the study of law at the University of Minnesota but abandoned it to go back to banking. He was connected with several banks in Iowa before coming to California seven years ago. He has been a resident of Glendale for about six years and connected with the Bank of Glendale all that time.



Archie M. Parker

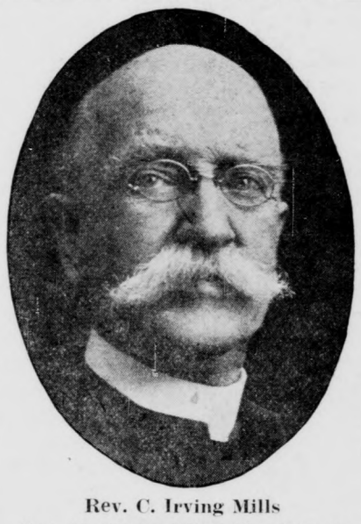
Archie M. Parker, Tiler, was born in Western New York in 1854 and attended the public schools until he was fifteen years of age, when he went into the dry goods business, in which he continued to be engaged in one way and another for many years. For sixteen years he traveled for a Chicago house and for fifteen years he was a merchant in Marshalltown, Iowa. When he sold out his interests there he came to California, where he has been for seven years, nearly all of that time in Glendale, where he purchased a home at 311 South Louise street, in which he has since resided. For the past three years he has been engaged in the grocery business in this city. He became an Elk in Marshalltown and was one of the promoters and charter members of the local lodge. During the first two years of its existence he was chairman of the House Committee and had charge of buying supplies and furnishings. He is greatly devoted to the Order.

John H. Fanset

John H. Fanset, Esquire, was born in Neche, North Dakota, in 1882, where he attended school, and when sixteen years of age came to California, bought a ranch and went into the citrus fruit business. About three years ago he went into the cleaning and dyeing business, in which he is now engaged. He joined the Elks in Santa Barbara and was one of the charter members of the local lodge.

Alfred F. Priest

Alfred F. Priest, Inner Guard, who has a special interest in the Elks' Club House because he was its architect, was born in 1887 at Pierce, Nebraska. He did not long remain there but moved with his parents to Davenport, Iowa, where his boyhood was spent, and fourteen years ago again moved with them to San Francisco, where he was graduated from the High School. In 1906 the family migrated to Southern California and Mr. Priest entered upon the practice of his profession. For seven years he has been in business alone and has been a resident of this city. Four years ago he joined the local lodge.



Rev. C. Irving Mills

Rev. C. Irving Mills, Chaplain, has been elected to the office he now holds for the fifth time. He was born in 1851 in Boston, Mass., where he attended the grade schools, the Boston Latin School and the Wesleyan University, subsequently becoming a student in the Boston University, whence he was graduated in law and theology. Immediately following his graduation he became pastor of a church and for fifteen years ministered to congregations in Massachusetts. He then came to Denver, Colorado, where he was connected with the Cathedral and other churches for twenty-five years, or until he came to Glendale five years ago to accept the pastorate of St. Mark's. Four and a half years ago he became a member of the local lodge.

Stanley Frentz

Stanley Frentz, Trustee, was born in 1868 in Toledo, Ohio, where he attended the public schools. When not quite twenty-one years of age he came to Los Angeles and opened a wall paper and paint store which he successfully conducted for about twenty-five years. When he retired from business nine years ago he came to Glendale to live. He has been an Elk for about three years, and for the past 2½ years has devoted the greater part of his time to the charitable work of the organization. In recognition of his disinterested service in this line he was elected a life member at the meeting of the Lodge one week ago, an honor which has touched him deeply.

BOOSTING FOR GARDENS

South Pasadena is a beautiful metropolis with quite a cosmopolitan population, but she is going back to country life and the first principles of old-fashioned gardening of oats, peas, beans, etc., in a most exemplary manner. Meetings of the Home Garden Association are held every few days and a big rally has been planned for Tuesday night which will be addressed by the Director and Assistant Director of Agriculture in the Los Angeles City Schools and by prominent horticulturists of the Southland. The following points were brought out at the last meeting as reported by the South Pasadena Record:

Now is the time to start the home garden. There should not be a foot of waste space in this city this summer.

Compost beds should be started by every gardener. These are made by placing all leaves, grass, ashes and other kinds of waste in a bed where it may decay and form a good fertilizer and provide humus. The only kind of leaves that should not be used are leaves from eucalyptus and pepper trees.

All tin cans procurable should be buried in a corner of the garden so that they may rust and decay and furnish iron for the soil. This ground should then be distributed over the garden. The cans will decay in a surprisingly short time if the ground is kept moist.

Lime distributed over the garden and plowed under or worked in the surface of plowed ground will loosen up the soil. A sack of 100 pounds is sufficient for a lot 50x150 feet.

Sawdust distributed over the surface of the planted garden will serve as an excellent mulch to keep the ground moist.

Cane sorghum should be planted to help make up for the sugar shortage. Also a row or two of sugar beets should be planted for the same reason. Sugar beets are the equal of red beets for table use and the greens are excellent.

The city council has voted an appropriation of fifty dollars to supply people who cannot afford to buy their own seeds.

The thermostat regulates the temperature of a new electric heating pad that can be connected to a light socket while an automatic device cuts off the current should there be danger of it becoming overheated.
